

The Best Man

Description

The main reason we came to this particular area of Florida was to visit our dear friend Louis and his significant other Linda. Louis was the best man at our wedding, so we've known each other for a very long time.

We spent some time relaxing in their house which has both a sunrise AND a their three cats.

Later that week, we hosted Louis and Linda for dinner on Island Girl. It's so much fun to share our new home with friends. She's really quite comfortable for four people to hang out.

Another day we headed to Pensacola to take care of some errands, including picking up and sending out Hector's absentee ballot. Long story short, the transition to fulltimeing created some challenges to voting due to the timeframe during which we were trying to change our residence. But persistence and

...ght to vote.

We took advantage of the trip to Pensacola to visit the National Naval Aviation Museum. Hector was beside himself with joy about going to this museum, he just loves airplanes. It was surprising how extensive the museum was and how many beautifully restored aircraft it contained (and it was free!). Their collection included aircraft from World War I to the present. Marine One, which was used by Presidents Nixon and Ford, and also some of the retired

We enjoyed some beach time at Henderson State Park, got to see a few sunrises and do a little bird watching. Unfortunately, we couldn't take Angel with us to the actual beach at the state park as it's not a dog-friendly beach :(. Angel did get to enjoy a couple of some fun

them. It was great to spend time together, as it always is.
