

Campground Reviews

I have been wanting to write campground reviews, but had not quite figured out a proper format. That is, until our friends, Leigh and Brian, introduced us to Campendium, a fabulous new review site for RV campgrounds.

Similar to Yelp for restaurants, with Campendium, when you search a location, you can filter by category, price, or whatever amenity is important to you. In addition to reviews, users can submit photos of a campground and blog posts about their stay.

We've added a new page on the menu at the top of our homepage titled Campgrounds, where I will list campgrounds I have written reviews for, along with a few that I wrote blog posts about in the past.

Campgrounds and free camping areas are listed under their city and state with a direct link to the reviews on Campendium or to the blog posts. I plan to add past campgrounds we have stayed in, especially our favorites, as well as future ones.

We hope the reviews are helpful.
